a specialist provider of water treatment solutions.

Through our years in the water industry, we've learnt a great deal about this precious resource and particularly, the challenges of managing decentralised water systems.

To help meet those challenges, we offer a complete solution - we design, build, operate and maintain water recycling and drinking water systems for populations ranging from 100 to 2000 people, as well as for groundwater treatment, industrial wastewater management and stormwater harvesting.

We've designed and installed over 40 water and wastewater treatment plants across Australia and in South-East Asia for commercial customers, state and federal government and the resources sector.

And Stornoway's on-the-ground experience in delivering plant operating services in harsh environments has helped us develop a range of specialist operations and maintenance packages.

Stornoway is now working with customers nationally to deliver plant operations and maintenance services, with an experienced team who understand our own plants and those from other suppliers.

Our experience shows that the best project outcome arises when we work closely with our customers right from the start. To do this, we provide:

- Preliminary design and budgetary costing
- Design risk assessment and value engineering
- Full design service including process, civil, structural and hydraulic
- Existing plant design review and re-engineering build.

Our plants are factory built utilising a modular design that streamlines manufacture and speeds up deployment. We use only industrial grade components that ensure a long life.

We have a skilled team who manage plant installation and commissioning including all works required across civil, plumbing, fitting and electrical.

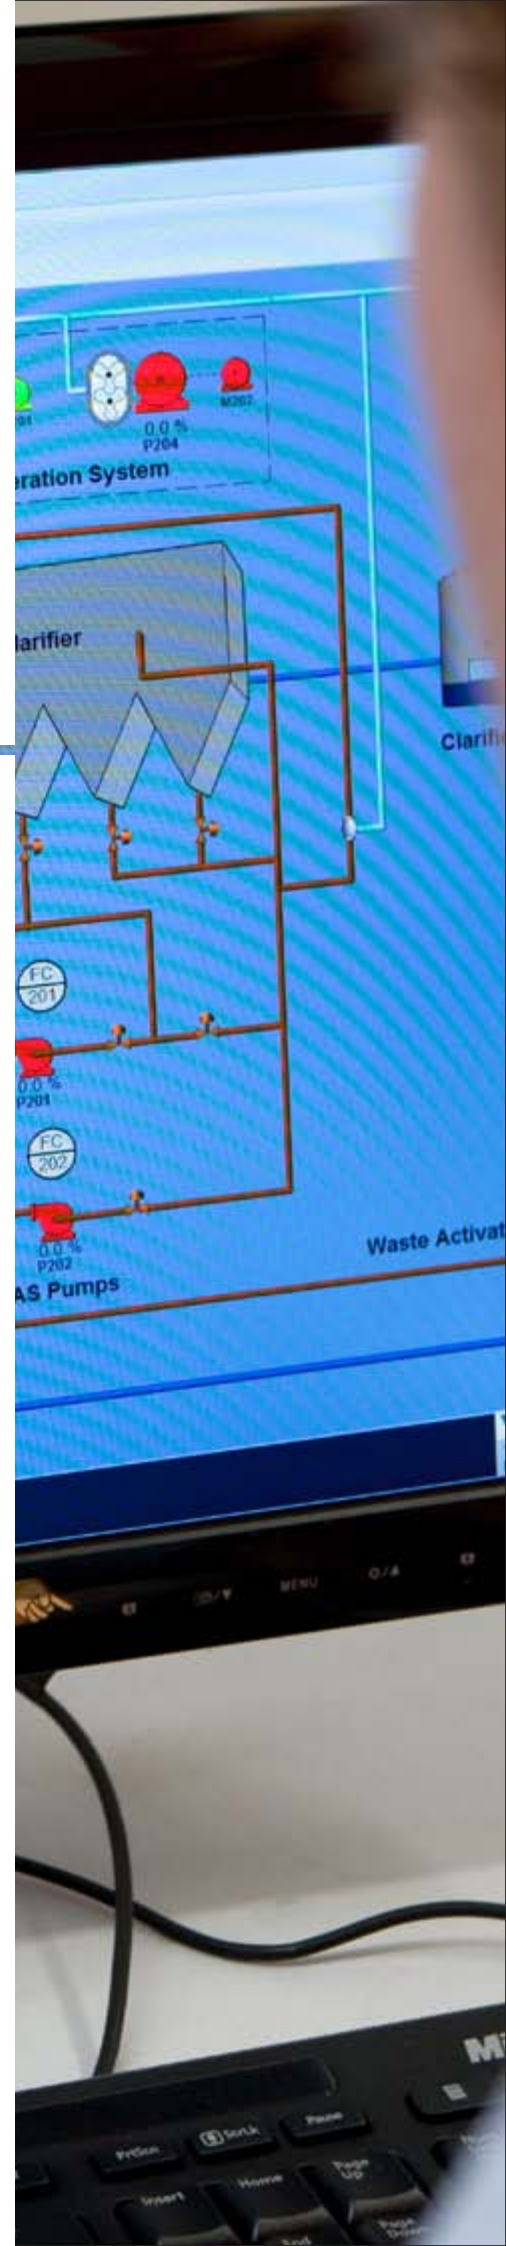

operate & maintain.

Operating and maintaining water and wastewater treatment infrastructure isn't easy - it can be complex, time consuming and take considerable resources to oversee.

At the end of the day, our customers simply want to achieve health and environmental compliance at the lowest cost.

By providing specialist operating services, Stornoway can remove these risk, cost and time requirements.

And we have developed a range of plant operations and maintenance service packages based on our experience in the industry.
